

SARATOGA RACES.

Last Day of the First Summer Meeting.

Fair Attendance and One Cracking Contest.

Longfellow and Kingsley Matched for $10,000 in a Four-Mile Dash.

Abelkore Winner of the $500 Purse for All Ages, One Mile and an Eighth; "Walk Over" by Kingsley, Purse $1,000.

Three Miles, and Nelly Gray the Consolation Purse, One Mile and a Quarter.

SARATOGA, July 18, 1871.

The racing in this place of novelty and freshness to the eyes of the spectators, and the interest in the contest, both in the contest and in the attendance, to-day, however, there was considerable disappointment manifested, owing to the fact of there being two "walk-overs." August Belmont's Kingsley being awarded the $1,000 in the second race for all ages, three miles, and General Butler's Nelly Gray, the $500 in the Consolation Purse, one mile and a quarter each, without a struggle. Mr. Harper, owner of Longfellow, persisted in his refusal to start that horse against Kingsley to-day, for the reasons stated in yesterday's HERALD. And the morning's racing was not so successful as the afternoon's. There was no race between the champion of Belmont's and the champion of Butler's, as the latter was not in the race. The only race between the champion of Belmont's and the champion of Butler's, as the latter was not in the race. The only race between the champion of Belmont's and the champion of Butler's, as the latter was not in the race.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

THE PACING.

The last day of the first summer meeting was as bright and as fine as any of the previous ones, but the racing was not so successful as the afternoon's.

Longfellow and Kingsley Matched for $10,000 in a Four-Mile Dash.

Abelkore Winner of the $500 Purse for All Ages, One Mile and an Eighth; "Walk Over" by Kingsley, Purse $1,000.

Three Miles, and Nelly Gray the Consolation Purse, One Mile and a Quarter.

SARATOGA, July 18, 1871.

The racing in this place of novelty and freshness to the eyes of the spectators, and the interest in the contest, both in the contest and in the attendance, to-day, however, there was considerable disappointment manifested, owing to the fact of there being two "walk-overs." August Belmont's Kingsley being awarded the $1,000 in the second race for all ages, three miles, and General Butler's Nelly Gray, the $500 in the Consolation Purse, one mile and a quarter each, without a struggle. Mr. Harper, owner of Longfellow, persisted in his refusal to start that horse against Kingsley to-day, for the reasons stated in yesterday's HERALD. And the morning's racing was not so successful as the afternoon's. There was no race between the champion of Belmont's and the champion of Butler's, as the latter was not in the race. The only race between the champion of Belmont's and the champion of Butler's, as the latter was not in the race.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

RECORD OF THE RIOT.

Still More of the Eighth Avenue Battle.

No Day Set for the General Inquest—The Funeral of Young Prior—Military Honors to be Accorded Him—Another Sad Story.

The Inquest of the Dead of the Riots.

There has been a natural expectation on the part of the public that the proceedings in the inquest on the bodies of those persons killed in the riots would commence this week. We have the very best authority for stating that the inquest will not be held for some days yet. The coroner, Young, who has this investigation under his official care, though urged by the public to commence the inquest at an early hour, has declined to do so, on the ground that the bodies of the deceased are not yet recovered, and that it is necessary to wait until the bodies are recovered, and then to hold the inquest.

REPORT OF THE TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT.

The following official report has been transmitted to division headquarters by Colonel Porter, of the Twenty-second Regiment:

HEADQUARTERS TWENTY-SECOND INFANTRY, N. Y. CO., NEW YORK, July 18, 1871.

Colonel W. H. CHAMBERLAIN, Assistant Adjutant General, First Division, National Guard.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 17th inst., in relation to the Twenty-second Regiment, and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

THE FUNERAL OF WALTER B. PRIOR.

The funeral services of private Walter B. Prior, of Company A, Ninth Regiment, who was wounded in the combat which took place on Eighth Avenue on the 12th of July, will take place to-morrow, from the residence of his father, No. 6, Bleeker street. The deceased was a young man of gentle manners and excellent character, and was much respected by the members of the Ninth, as well as by a numerous circle of friends. He was shot by the rebels on the 12th of July, and died of his wounds on the 13th.

The Inquest of the Dead of the Riots.

There has been a natural expectation on the part of the public that the proceedings in the inquest on the bodies of those persons killed in the riots would commence this week. We have the very best authority for stating that the inquest will not be held for some days yet. The coroner, Young, who has this investigation under his official care, though urged by the public to commence the inquest at an early hour, has declined to do so, on the ground that the bodies of the deceased are not yet recovered, and that it is necessary to wait until the bodies are recovered, and then to hold the inquest.

REPORT OF THE TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT.

The following official report has been transmitted to division headquarters by Colonel Porter, of the Twenty-second Regiment:

HEADQUARTERS TWENTY-SECOND INFANTRY, N. Y. CO., NEW YORK, July 18, 1871.

Colonel W. H. CHAMBERLAIN, Assistant Adjutant General, First Division, National Guard.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 17th inst., in relation to the Twenty-second Regiment, and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

THE ROOSEVELT STREET RUM RUMPU.

The Murder of Young Casey—Coroner Young Makes an Investigation—A Verdict Against John O'Brien—He is Committed to the Tomb.

The Inquest of the Dead of the Riots.

There has been a natural expectation on the part of the public that the proceedings in the inquest on the bodies of those persons killed in the riots would commence this week. We have the very best authority for stating that the inquest will not be held for some days yet. The coroner, Young, who has this investigation under his official care, though urged by the public to commence the inquest at an early hour, has declined to do so, on the ground that the bodies of the deceased are not yet recovered, and that it is necessary to wait until the bodies are recovered, and then to hold the inquest.

REPORT OF THE TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT.

The following official report has been transmitted to division headquarters by Colonel Porter, of the Twenty-second Regiment:

HEADQUARTERS TWENTY-SECOND INFANTRY, N. Y. CO., NEW YORK, July 18, 1871.

Colonel W. H. CHAMBERLAIN, Assistant Adjutant General, First Division, National Guard.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 17th inst., in relation to the Twenty-second Regiment, and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

THE ROOSEVELT STREET RUM RUMPU.

The Murder of Young Casey—Coroner Young Makes an Investigation—A Verdict Against John O'Brien—He is Committed to the Tomb.

The Inquest of the Dead of the Riots.

There has been a natural expectation on the part of the public that the proceedings in the inquest on the bodies of those persons killed in the riots would commence this week. We have the very best authority for stating that the inquest will not be held for some days yet. The coroner, Young, who has this investigation under his official care, though urged by the public to commence the inquest at an early hour, has declined to do so, on the ground that the bodies of the deceased are not yet recovered, and that it is necessary to wait until the bodies are recovered, and then to hold the inquest.

REPORT OF THE TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT.

The following official report has been transmitted to division headquarters by Colonel Porter, of the Twenty-second Regiment:

HEADQUARTERS TWENTY-SECOND INFANTRY, N. Y. CO., NEW YORK, July 18, 1871.

Colonel W. H. CHAMBERLAIN, Assistant Adjutant General, First Division, National Guard.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 17th inst., in relation to the Twenty-second Regiment, and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.

The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small. The morning was fair as ever upon the village, the air deliciously cool and invigorating. The attendance at the course, however, was very small.